I graduated from Başkent University, Department of Psychology as highest ranked student in 2017. Afterwards, I got accepted to TED University Developmental Focused Clinical Child and Adolescent Psychology master's program with scholarship and I graduated from this program in 2019. During my master's education, I worked as a teaching assistant at TED University Psychology Department for 2 years and continued client interviews under supervision education. Also, during my master's education, I received psychotherapy training, family therapy training and play therapy training and supervision. Currently, I am continuing my PhD education in Developmental Psychology and I am working as a instructor in Kent University Child Development Department.
